

New Coastline

The May issue of the new Coastline is number 40 and is delivered to over a third of households in Corton, by our wonderful volunteers. Sadly we lost two volunteers, last year, Colleen Thrower and Geoff Webb who had both helped for many years starting with the old Coastline magazine. A new volunteer has taken over Colleen's route and Geoff's deliveries have been added to another.

Last year, thanks to several discount vouchers, a slight reduction in printing costs and the generous donation we received when we started, we were able to thank our loyal subscribers and advertisers by giving them six months free. It was decided not to decrease the price in case the costs go back up again.

Coastline continues to thrive and be enjoyed.

Thank you all our subscribers, volunteers and those who submit articles without these people Coastline wouldn't continue
