

TEXTILES GROUP

The group continues to meet once a fortnight – which gives us a chance to see what projects we are all working on and what progress has been made.

We have been meeting now for nineteen years, and it would be interesting to try to work out how many different things have been started, worked on, finished – or which languish in the “work in progress” pile. A very varied selection of work has been produced over this time.

During the past year we have been glad to welcome some new members, and a warm welcome awaits anyone who would like to come and join us.
